

QUEEN OF HEARTS

They took the pinball machine out of Radio
And put the ashtrays out on the patio
Put shine on the walls and the window pane
But all the stalls still look the same

Coffee black and a scotch for the health
Ease the weight off the feet for a spell
And watch the sunset across the water
Are days on the far side of shorter ?

Slip me a simple song
The one with a smile and open heart
Slip me a good luck charm
In search for the Queen of Hearts

I still got the flower you gave me that night
The only one I've had that's stayed alive
And it's all that's left of you in here
It just brightens the room and provides the air

Slip me a simple song
The one with a smile and open arms
Slip me a good luck charm
In search for the Queen of Hearts

Written by TK Berg © 2005